Nation's Business Moving Forward

Marked Gains Seen In October

WASHINGTON (AP) — The business recovery got its second wind in October, government reports showed Friday, and there were predictions that November will bring some solid reductions in unemployment.

The Commerce Department announced gains in October in new housing starts, manufacturers' sales of autos and other durable goods, and in the volume of new orders arriving at factories.

The Labor Department reported new highs in payroll employment—it went up 170,000 to 55.3 million—and in the earnings of factory workers. The factory work-week lengthened also.

These reports, coming on the heels of previous announcements that industrial production in October regained its peak rate and retail sales rose 2½ per cent after a summer lull, raised official hopes that joblessness finally will start dropping.

"In view of what has happened, we are hopeful that the (unemployment) rate will start moving down this month," said Seymour Wolfbein, the Labor Department's manpower expert.

JFK Cites Growth

Meanwhile, President Kennedy was in a message read to the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department convention that there has been "a very high order" of economic growth since he took office in January. "We are moving forward," Kennedy said.

This means nonskeds moving troops within the United States must comply with the same stiff Military Air Transport Service rules that cover transportation of military passengers on overseas flights.

Until now, internally operated nonscheduled lines have had to meet regulations only of the Federal Aviation Agency and Civil Aeronautics Board.

McNamara told a news conference that, in addition to safety, MATS will concern itself with nonskeds' financial stability and ability to meet schedules.

That appeared aimed at some of the 29 nonskeds which are reported in shaky financial condition. Officials said a line's financial influence its ability to maintain its planes properly.

Rockefeller, grandson of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is a man of millions many times over.

Four of the Rockefellers' five children are married. The youngest, Michael, who is unmarried, is on an expedition to New Guinea for the Peabody Museum of Harvard University.

King Saud Improves

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The condition of ailing King Saud of Saudi Arabia has improved, Meca radio reported Friday.

The radio said doctors at the Arabian-American Oil Co hospital at Dhahran advised the 59-year-old desert monarch to rest and continue medical examinations.

The king is suffering from severe pains in the legs.

Improved activity in the auto industry was reflected in production, sales and income figures. The industry showed a healthy pickup in sales and a production speedup as major strikes came to an end.

Home building also perked up substantially after a disappointing autumn. Construction was started on 127,600 dwellings in October, the Commerce Department said.

This represented an annual rate of 1,442,000 private housing starts, a gain of 4 per cent from September. (Continued On Page 2)

Slow Death Is Predicted By Stevenson

Warns U.S. Cannot Save World Body From Cost Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) — U. N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson Friday described the United Nations as on the verge of death from "financial hemorrhage" and warned the United States cannot alone be expected to save the world body from bankruptcy as in the past.

Stevenson, speaking at Fordham Law School in New York, laid the new U.N. financial crisis at the doorstep of the Soviet bloc, South Africa, France, and other member nations who are not paying their allotted share of the peace organization's expenses.

He also made it clear he had in mind the Western bloc's recent defeats in a series of General Assembly votes when he declared: "The Soviet bloc, France and South Africa say they will not pay. Others say they cannot, others simply do not... do other nations perhaps think the United States, although we do not call the tune and do not wish to, can somehow be prevailed on to pay the piper?

"If this illusion exists, it will have to be expelled as quickly as possible," he said.

Stevenson noted that the Congo operation was draining the U.N. treasury at the rate of $10 million a month and that the organization already was nearly $100 million in arrears. He said all financial resources would be exhausted by next March if the current payment lags and payment boycotts continue.

Last year the United States saved the world body from similar near bankruptcy by depositing advance payments totaling some $20 million in various special funds which the secretary general then was able to draw on to meet the Congo hills and regular operating costs. But Stevenson's speech Friday indicated the United States now rejecting any further such go-it-alone action.

First Lady Is Thrown From Horse

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was thrown from her horse Friday while fox hunting near Upperville, Va., when her mount refused a jump. Reports of the seriousness of the incident varied.

Mrs. Eve Fout, of Middleburg, Va., who was among the riders, said the first lady "slipped off and landed on her feet" when a photographer scared her horse just as it approached the jump.

The Washington Evening Star reported that Mrs. Kennedy, while riding with the Piedmont fox hounds, "somersaulted and landed on her back atop a post and rail fence." It said she suffered a "spectacular and painful fall" but remained.

The newspaper said Mrs. Kennedy regained her feet unaided but "with obvious pain from the blow to her rib cage."

The White House neither confirmed nor denied the reports. It said Mrs. Kennedy, who is spending the weekend at the Kennedy's Glen Ora estate in Middleburg, had been riding since the day before.

At the same time, the President repeated that "I have no intention of 'learning to live with prolonged and severe unemployment, with all that it means in human misery and economic waste."

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, in a talk with newsmen, predicted economic improvement. He said several indices including consumer spending are starting to move up again.

Below Four Million

Unemployment went below 4 million in October for the first time in a year, but the dip was purely seasonal and the rate remained at 6.8 per cent of the labor force. This is approximately where it has held ever since last winter.

Improved activity in the auto industry was reflected in production, sales and income figures. The industry showed a healthy pickup in sales and a production speedup as major strikes came to an end.

Home building also perked up substantially after a disappointing autumn. Construction was started on 127,600 dwellings in October, the Commerce Department said.

This represented an annual rate of 1,442,000 private housing starts, a gain of 4 per cent from September. (Continued On Page 2)

UN Troops Ordered To Disarm Butchers In Congo Massacre

U Thant Calls Closed Session With McKeown

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—The U.N. commander in the Congo told acting Secretary-General U Thant and his Congo advisory committee Friday more troops are needed to cope with the violence similar to that in which 13 Italian airmen were murdered.

U Thant summoned the 18-nation committee into private session to hear Maj. Gen. Sean McKeown, Irish commander of the U.N. forces and Conor Cruise O'Brien, chief U.N. representative in Katanga Province.

U.N. troops were flown in to reinforce the 200-man garrison already at Kindu in Kivu Province where about 80 mutinous Congolese got beyond control Saturday and killed the unarmed airmen.

The Italians were on a U.N. transport mission.

U.N. orders were to seal off the Kindu area and disarm the 1,000 or so Congolese troops who once formed part of Gizza's army when he set up a Soviet-supported rebel rule at Stanleyville in Oriental Province.

The encirclement and disarmament was to permit a "fair investigation and stern punishment" of the guilty, the United Nations said.

Diplomatic sources have reported — and the Congo government fears — that Gizza, the political heir of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba, stirred up the troop rebellion in new and open defiance of the central government and the United Nations.

Government sources said he was in Kindu last Tuesday before it was known the Italians had been killed. Gen. Victor Lundula, Gizza's former army chief, and Interior Minister Christopher Gbenye, met him in his Kindu hideout briefly that day—and almost immediately were run out of town by unruly troops.

Hope Rekindled For Eventual Peace In Laos

Reds Want Discussion In Moscow

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — The Soviet Union has asked Finland to send a delegation to Moscow as soon as possible to discuss an alleged threat to peace in the Baltic Sea.

Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen announced here that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassili Kuznetsov told Finnish Ambassador Eero A. Vuori that there was an immediate threat to peace in northern Europe.

Kuznetsov told Vuori that the Soviet government wanted to talk over matters brought up in a Soviet note of Oct. 30.

In the October note, the Soviet Union asked Finland to implement the 1948 mutual assistance and friendship agreement, which provides for joint action in case of threat of an attack by Germany or any state allied with it.

This pact does not provide for automatic joint defense measures. But Moscow, by invoking it, could require the Finns to discuss whether a danger actually existed and what should be done about it.

It was believed earlier that the Finns could avoid these talks by giving the Soviet Union political assurances of Finnish neutrality.

President Urho Kekkonen Tuesday dissolved the present parliament and ordered new parliamentary elections for Feb. 4-5.

The military chief of the royal government, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, said the new proposal "has completely transformed the atmosphere" and that he hoped for "most happy results."

The three-nation truce commission for Laos warned last week that a new civil war might break out unless the three squabbling princes reached quick agreement on a government of national unity.

Instead, he agreed to talk later this month in Vientiane, seat of the present pro-Western royal government.

Nation's Polio At Record Low

ATLANTA (UPI) — The nation's incidence of polio, already at a record low for modern times, continued to drop last week.

The communicable disease center here reported a total of only 29 new cases in the entire nation for the week ended Nov. 11. This was seven less than the previous week in a continuing decline that has been underway since late September.

With only seven weeks left this year, the 1961 polio case total in the United States has reached only 1,195 cases compared to 2,962 cases through the same date last year and 7,858 cases through the first 45 weeks of 1960.

Neither the nation nor Arizona could afford to lose the benefit of his experience and seniority," Kennedy said in a speech prepared for delivery at Friday night's anniversary dinner honoring Hayden's almost 50 years in Congress. Hayden, second in line of presidential succession following the death of Speaker Sam Rayburn, told newsmen last week he had not decided whether to seek a new six-year term.

Many of Friday night's guests of both political parties were or had served with Rayburn in Congress, including Vice President Lyndon Johnson who first cancelled plans to attend, but decided Friday to go ahead with his original plans.

Kennedy, Johnson, Hayden and many others go Saturday to Bonham, Tex., for the Rayburn funeral.

Kennedy flew here from Seattle and was greeted by a crowd of 4,000 at the airport, including some carrying placards criticizing "muzzling" of the military. Most of the crowd, including Hayden and Republican Gov. Paul Fanin, gave Kennedy a warm "Howdy Jack" welcome typified by another sign. But other placards read "Muzzles for dogs, not military," and "Let's do something about Castro."

Former President Harry S. Truman is flying down from Missouri. Tom Clark, associate justice of the Supreme Court, will be present. He is a Texan.

Nearly a fourth of the members of the House over which Rayburn presided for nearly 17 years will be flying to Bonham. Among them will be Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

It was McCormack whom Rayburn tapped for temporary speaker when he handed over his gavel and came home to Bonham a month before Congress adjourned. McCormack is expected to become the new speaker. He named an official delegation of 105 House members to attend the funeral.

It includes all the Texans, plus all the senior members of delegations of the other 49 states, Republicans and Democrats alike.

Alvey Enters Innocent Plea At Baltimore

Faces Charges
Murder-Kidnapping

BALTIMORE (AP) — A plea of innocent was entered Friday to charges of murder and kidnapping by Joseph H. Alvey, 41, in the sex slaying of a 7-year-old Washington boy.

Alvey was returned to the Baltimore City Jail. His attorneys did not ask to have him released on bond.

He was indicted under the Lindbergh Law in the death of Michael J. Connelly, whose body was found Nov. 14, 1960 — three days after he disappeared — by a rabbit hunter in the woods of suburban Maryland.

Alvey was arrested Oct. 30 in Miami on a vagrancy charge. He said he had lived there for eight months and sold newspapers. The prosecution said Alvey lived at Mount Rainier, Md., at the time of the youngster's death.

His attorney, J. Call Hill of Humphries, Va., was granted the right for a week to file motions, including whether he will ask for trial by jury.

Roszel C. Thomsen, chief U.S. District judge, said trial without a jury would raise the question of whether the death penalty could be imposed under the Lindbergh Law. He said the law requires specifically that a jury recommend whether the death penalty should be imposed.

Judge Thomsen appointed Bernard H. Silber, Baltimore lawyer, to assist in the trial when Hill said Alvey was without funds.

Maryland Briefs

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Angelo Perrera, 54, charged with murder in the death of a used car salesman, is scheduled to go on trial Monday in Carroll County Circuit Court.

Perrera is accused of slaying Edward Castranova, 29, outside an East Baltimore diner last July 15. Perrera's brother, Orlando, 43, and Benjamin Wildstein, 49, also have been charged but their trial dates have not been set.

Judge James Boylan will preside at the jury trial, which was moved from Baltimore at the request of the defense.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland's new State scholarship board will be headed by John T. Tucker, former associate judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore.

The 1961 General Assembly created to the seven-member board to administer the new program of State scholarships and any federal scholarship program that may be established. Gov. Tawes named the committee Friday.

The new program calls for the award of $15,500 college scholarships annually, or a maximum of $68 during a four-year period. The recipients will be allowed to attend the college of their choice.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries says the catch of Maryland fishermen during the first eight months of the year dropped 7 per cent in volume and 15 per cent in value as compared with last year. The federal agency said the January-August landing of fish and shellfish at Maryland ports totals 40.9 million pounds valued at $6.6 million.

The report showed notable declines in both landings and prices for flounder, menhaden, soft and hard clams and oysters.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Army recruits from the Baltimore-Washington area have been traveling to Ft. Jackson, S.C., by train since the Nov. 8 plane crash near Richmond which killed 74 recruits.

A spokesman at nearby Ft. Holabird said the change was made because recently lowered rail rates are $2.50 per man below the rates charged by airlines.

The spokesman said the Army had planned to start using trains last Monday, but the crash caused him to make the change immediately.

Congressman Asks Probe Of Guard Division

Charges Neglect, Pentagon Betrayal

MERCER, Wis. (UPI) — A Wisconsin congressman said Friday the Pentagon has "betrayed and demoralized" the state's 32nd National Guard Division in federal service at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, a Republican, said the famed "Red Arrow" division lacks food, clothing, bedding, fuel, equipment and even shoes.

He said he has asked Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee to authorize a full congressional investigation into charges of "negligence and mismanagement" of the unit.

O'Konski, a member of the Armed Services Committee, said the charges were made by soldiers in the division.

"If the charges of negligence and mismanagement are found to be true, there should be some court martial starting right in the Pentagon in Washington," he said.

The congressman said he wanted to emphasize that the division officers themselves were "not responsible for the situation at Ft. Lewis."

"The fault is at the Pentagon," he said.

O'Konski said he has received 16 different petitions from men in the division and none of them has less than 50 signatures.

"One whole company from my district (which includes extreme northern Wisconsin) signed a petition, both enlisted men and officers," he said. "I won't mention which unit because I fear they will take it out on them."

O'Konski said that "never before have I been flooded with protests and complaints of negligence such as exist at Ft. Lewis. That includes World War II and the Korean War."

"There is a lack of food, clothing, bedding and even fuel has to be rationed," O'Konski said. "No winter clothing is available."

"The plane apparently disintegrated on impact," said a spokesman at Patuxent. "It was a pretty severe impact."

The gallant 32nd Division has been betrayed and demoralized."

the mutiny and seek the release of the Italians.

The sources believe Gizega declared at that time his defiance of the central government which he once consented to join as vice premier. Whether he was in India when the mutiny broke out on Saturday is not known positively by officials.

The government has reports, however, that he left Stanleyville by road last week and could have been in India.

The government says that if he did not actually order the troops to rebel he hoped to benefit from the lack of discipline in order to improve his own position.

The revulsion at the brutality of the killings is so strong among government officials that the usual vehement objections, raised when it was proposed before to disarm Congo troops, have not been made.

SH Nurses Alumni Plan Christmas Celebration

Plans for a Christmas party and for having greeting cards printed were formulated at the meeting of the Nurses Alumni Association of Sacred Heart Hospital Wednesday evening in the nurses' home. Selection for a project for the new hospital was postponed as Miss Christine J. Williams, who conducted the meeting, stated that the advisory board of the hospital, with Thomas B. Finn president, will draw up a brochure, then the alumni may select its project.

It was agreed that the alumni would have cards of sympathy, get well and congratulations printed with the school seal. Mrs. Dorothy Huff was appointed to design the cards. Mrs. Stella Sell was named chairman of the project.

An announcement was made of the Red Cross nursing service seminar to be held the afternoon and evening of December 14 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. All phases of nursing service will be covered. Miss Williams reported.

Reservations for the dinner are to be made soon after receiving the invitation, which will be sent out the end of the month.

Pending selection of either December 6 or 12, the alumni Christmas party was planned. John Fetters, employee of the hospital, refreshments were served.

Annual Benefit Dance Of Jr. WCC To Be Nov. 25

"The Roaring Twenties" has been selected as the theme for the annual dance of the Junior Woman's Civic Club. Arrangements were completed at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Glen Brant, welfare chairman, with Mrs. Ralph Sell Jr., Mrs. Samuel Moses and Mrs. William Bruce.

The dance will be held at the Cumberland Country Club on November 25. Proceeds are to be divided between Camp Tioga and Friends Aware for Handicapped Children.

Dancing will be from 10 p. m. until 2 a. m., with music by Tommy Smith's Orchestra. Carrying out the dance theme, accessories and decorations are being made by the welfare committee, in connection with that era. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the club.

Mrs. Marie Caporale, 124 West Third Street, is a medical patient in Memorial Hospital.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My niece is planning a winter wedding, and she doesn't know beans about wedding etiquette. She thinks everyone who is invited to the wedding should be invited to the reception and dinner.

Are the men supposed to wear dark pants and white coats in the winter? I say no. The groom says yes. If the women wear long dresses do they also wear hats? The bride-to-be says the groom's folks are supposed to buy flowers for the bridesmaids. The groom's mother says the bride's folks pay for everything.

Please help us untangle some of these problems. — AUNTIE

DEAR AUNTIE: You need more help than I can give you in a single letter. I suggest a personal consultation with someone whose business it is to plan weddings.

I can tell you, however, that it's not necessary to invite to dinner all the guests who are invited to the wedding. And white coats in the winter are not proper — ditto hats with long dresses. Any florist can tell you who pays for which flowers.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I the typical jilted girl or is my case different?

In April my steady and I broke up. He said I was too possessive. He wasn't particularly interested in dating others but he wanted to spend more time with the fellows. He still shares my locker at school (we're both seniors now) and he even dates me once in a while.

versity in Waltham, Mass.

A copy of the film will go to the Pius XII Memorial Library at St. Louis (Mo.) University where a voluminous collection of Vatican manuscripts already is preserved on microfilm.

The new manuscripts will reflect the development of Middle Eastern and European Jewish learning during the medieval, Renaissance and early modern periods, a Brandeis University spokesman said. They include Biblical commentaries, mostly on the Old Testament. Precisely what they contain, however, won't be known until scholars of all faiths begin to pore over them.

Officials of the Pius XII Library, seeking a sponsor for the $20,000 copying project, approached Brandeis University last year.

The university was interested, but likewise without a sponsor. Brandeis President Dr. Abram L. Sachar turned to his friend, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston. The cardinal collected $20,000 from his archdiocese to put the project over.

"This was the latest in a long series of expressions of encouragement from Cardinal Cushing," Dr. Sachar said.

A Brandeis spokesman pointed out the cost of the project doesn't at all reflect the value of the documents to the university. "The manuscripts obviously are of incalculable value," he said, "if only because they aren't available from any other source."

Charles J. Ermatinger, film librarian at St. Louis University, said the documents are especially important because of the role played by the Jews in the spread of philosophical and scientific learning in the Middle Ages and during the Renaissance period.

The Rev. Lowrie J. Daly, S. J., who originated the St. Louis collection, explained

Library's more than nine miles of shelves are divided according to languages in which the texts are written.

The work should be completed by next fall, Father Daly said. It involves 800 volumes which will be reduced to 300 rolls of film, each 100 feet long. The whole project is described as tantamount to copying 25 years of the New York Times.

The long arm of the law finally caught up with an Upper Marlboro man who has been eluding the clutches of the Maryland State Police since May 15, 1959.

Tife Joseph Helmstetter reported that he apprehended William Albert Shoemaker of Upper Marlboro one mile west of LaVale on Route 40 in May 1959 for passing another auto and crossing a double white line.

When Shoemaker did not appear for trial, the officer obtained a warrant from Peter J. Carpenter, who was then trial magistrate, charging the defendant with failing to appear.

Time passed and Shoemaker, according to the trooper, moved out of the state. However, State Police placed an alert at the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Then this month, Shoemaker moved back to Maryland and when he applied at the department for a new driver's license, State Police in the Baltimore detachment were called and Shoemaker was arrested.

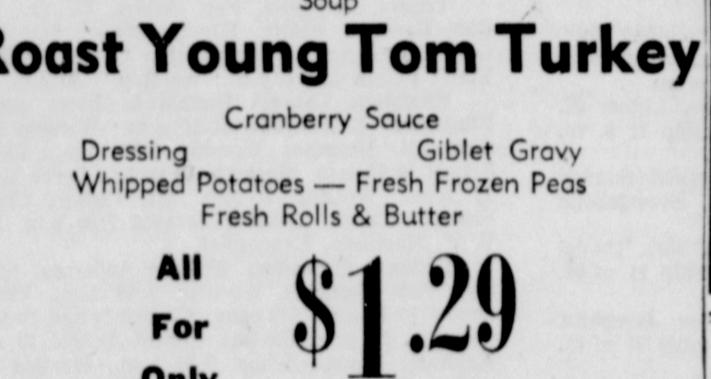

Wednesday, Shoemaker was returned here and he finally posted $33.90 bond on the two charges.

Yesterday, he forfeited the amount when he again failed to appear in local Trial Magistrates' Court, but the law was satisfied for basic training.

School CD Plan Launched

Glen U. Hanna, visiting teacher, and J. Hubert Radcliffe, supervisor of transportation for the Allegany County Board of Education, have been placed in charge of a Civil Defense program for county public schools.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said the men are familiar with conditions at the various schools. They will prepare a tentative program which is expected to call for the evacuation of schools in the event of an enemy attack in an area where fallout could become a danger there. The county is not considered to be a prime target.

After the program is prepared it will be submitted to county Civil Defense officials, State Police and Cumberland Police for suggestions and approval.

Civil defense officials suggested Tuesday that the Board of Education take steps to initiate a program and Webster announced appointment of the two men.

After a program is adopted students and parents will be informed as to its provisions.

The "key defense weapon" in the atomic age, according to civil defense officials, is the portable radio.

At a meeting Thursday, the association's board of directors asked that the demonstrations be stopped. The group described last Saturday's activities as examples of "rowdyism" and "mob rule," and said the association would not "tolerate" a repetition of it.

Dr. Kearse denied that the first demonstration was marked by "rowdyism." But he consented to meet with the association's legislative committee next Monday in an effort to reach an agreement through mediation.

Meanwhile, student representatives of the demonstrators held a planning meeting, after which they wired an appeal to former Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro:

"We college students who were demonstrating in Maryland on Saturday faced a mob when we sought service in a public restaurant near your Albemarle Street home," the telegram read.

"Demonstrations will continue throughout Maryland until restaurants discharge their lawful duty and serve all people."

The group added: "We respectfully urge you to use your tremendous prestige and good office to make sure these peaceful demonstrators are not molested. We respectfully urge that you prevail upon the restaurant owners to take action which will make such demonstrations no longer necessary."

D'Alesandro was appointed to the Federal Renegotiation Board earlier this year by President Kennedy.

An official of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), which has endorsed the anti-segregation movement headed by Dr. Kearse, charged Friday that police were to blame for any violence which occurred last Saturday.

Julius Hobson of Washington, eastern representative of CORE, replied to the restaurant association's criticism of the sit-ins.

"It was your police who were violent and allowed the intimidation of people carrying out their constitutional rights," Hobson declared, adding:

"Maryland Negroes and friends of the Negroes should resent any accusation there was mob violence last Saturday. All violence was by racists and hoodlums not in favor of constitutional rights."

A License To Print Money?

The curtain rings down on Miami's Channel 10 case no later than 3 a.m. Monday, when the present operator of television station WPST is under orders from the Federal Communications Commission to get off the air. It is the fitting climax of a three-year scandal that has received attention from both Congress and the courts.

As early as January 1958, the story of how three applicants had used political influence and off-the-record pressures to try to win Channel 10 had been heard before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D., Ark.). Sixteen months ago the FCC acted on this information to disqualify Public Service Television, the present operator of Channel 10, and two other applicants, for misconduct in the license scramble. Court tests followed, but the appeals process ran out last month when the Supreme Court refused to review a lower court ruling upholding the FCC decision.

This marked the first time the FCC had ever ordered a television station off the air. (A similar order in Indianapolis is effective November 30.) Channel 10 will not be dark for long, however, because the FCC has given it to L. B. Wilson, Inc., the only one of the original applicants whose record was deemed clean.

Prospective broadcasters are now on notice that any applicant who seeks FCC favor through the backdoor risks loss of his license. But the temptation to use every tactic short of judo will remain strong. As somebody has said, "a broadcasting license is a license to print money." The three TV networks earned a total profit before taxes of $95,200,000 last year, while each of 13 television stations earned a profit of more than $3 million and 56 more earned in excess of $1 million.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Molotov

The reduction of Molotov to the position of an outcast is one of several indications that Khrushchev is having as much internal trouble as everybody else these days. We have a tendency, in this country, to believe that Khrushchev is a mighty dictator who is never opposed. External evidence clearly points to considerable internal troubles in Soviet Russia.

The concept of a monolithic state in which the people are held in tutelage by an oligarchic party is apparently proving to be false. Such a state can only be held together by murder. Stalin killed the deviantists, no matter what friendship may have existed between them. He regarded the party as the central point of his existence and he established a blind obedience which recognized no difference of view. Even such historic figures as Trotsky and Tukhachevsky had to make way before this concept of a unified, monolithic state.

The Russian Revolution is in its third generation of leadership. Stalin and most of his associates had played a role in the Revolution and had known Lenin. Stalin, himself, was a Commissar in the Smolny Institute and lived in the tradition of the early days of underground activities and Siberian reprisals.

Khrushchev did not emerge until World War II. He was an assistant to Kaganovich in the Ukraine. It was not until Stalin needed some butchery in the Ukraine that Khrushchev emerged as an efficient operator. But, in office, Khrushchev has taken on bourgeois morality. He does not kill; he exiles. Those whom he reduces are historically greater men than he has been until very recently. Who is the upstart Khrushchev to compare with Molotov who was a revolutionist under Lenin?

Khrushchev's major difficulty arises from the fact that Stalin built the new Russia. He absorbed more than 15 nations. He hornswoggled the great Roosevelt and forced the greater Churchill to accept his program. He pushed Russian power to the Mediterranean, to the South Pacific and into Germanic Europe.

What can Khrushchev do to compare with Stalin? He must defeat the United States; move Russian power to the Rhine and unify all the nations that Russia has conquered. Stalin could kill because the Russian people feared that conspiracy would destroy their gains. He cultivated such a fear and established a reign of terror. The Russians were proud of his achievements although they lived in fear of his methods. They gloried in his enormous gains which were larger than those of Peter the Great and Catherine, but they realized the enormous moral cost of his leadership.

Khrushchev has not the will or the power to equal Stalin. He therefore turns in despair to the abuse of Stalin, even removing the ghost from his sarcophagus. It is the fear of Stalin's ghost which upsets Khrushchev even as the King in Hamlet found himself living in terror of his predecessor's ghost. As long as the memory of Stalin remains with the Russian people, Khrushchev cannot establish an image of himself. He remains one of the people, not Ivan the Terrible but a nakhchalik who no longer gets drunk and who has an Italian tailor.

Therefore, Khrushchev must remove every symbol of Stalin, including the men who served him, even Lazar Kaganovich who picked Khrushchev out of the mines and gave him a chance at greatness.

Molotov symbolizes the greatness of Stalin in international relations. He served under Maxim Litvinov and he played a part in every growth of the nation under Stalin. He was an old Bolshevik and as such, possessed a revolutionary seniority equal only to that of the aged Voroshilov who was not permitted to sit on the dais of the great. Blot out the memory of Stalin by removing the associates of Stalin, among them some who helped to make the Revolution!

The people do not seem to take kindly to Khrushchev's assertions of importance and so, he falls back on an old Russian technique, one that has had a long tradition in the Ukraine. He stimulates a pogrom on the Jews. But even that is different, because instead of mass murder of Jews, as was done during the Kishinev Pogrom in 1903, he sets out to destroy Jewish culture, Jewish religion, the Hebrew language. As an imitation Haman, he would divert attention from his fidelity to antagonism to the Jews.

Poor Khrushchev! He uses desperate weapons. He is a frightened man.

'Neutrals' And The Cold War Balance Sheet

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What do all these visits by foreign dignitaries — Prime Minister Nehru, among others — really mean? Of what value is the artificial "friendship" with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, and what do the lengthy conferences here with several heads of state in recent weeks amount to? What is back of it all?

These questions are in the minds of many people in this country as they wonder whether the visits of high officials from abroad and the platitudinous professions of lofty purpose do any good, and whether the United States is being "played for a sucker" by the so-called "neutrals" or "non-aligned" countries.

But the truth is that it is a game with high stakes. While mistakes have been made, the United States, under the leadership of Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy, has actually proceeded with self-restraint, caution and common sense in handling most of the many delicate situations involved.

Take, for instance, the problem of India. President Kennedy knows as well as anybody else in the West that India's delegation to the United Nations has been aiding the maneuvers of the Soviet Union, and that Krishna Menon, the Minister of Defense in Mr. Nehru's Cabinet, plays close to the Moscow regime — if, indeed, he isn't a Communist himself, as has been widely reported.

The "neutralists," as they sometimes have been called, known full well that it is the United States which dishes out the big money and that the Soviets are long on promises but short on fulfillment, while the conditions exacted by Khrushchev are far more onerous than the requests for "co-operation" made by this country.

There was a time when the recipients cried out indignantly against any "strings" being attached to financial aid, but they had to drop that line of talk when they came to realize that Moscow itself insisted on some very substantial conditions. These include, for instance, permission for a big increase in the embassy staffs from the Communist countries, amounting to several hundred in each case, and the sending in of hundreds of student organizers, trained to stir up trouble in universities and to do other things that help the Communist apparatus in cold war operations inside "neutral" countries.

In Latin America the Soviet advance in this field has been extensive, but the countries to the south of us are slowly waking up to the dangers. Nine of them have already broken diplomatic relations with Cuba, the center of Communist activities in this hemisphere. Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Mexico have not gone as far as their sister countries in manifesting antagonism toward

"neutral" countries.

In Latin America the Soviet advance in this field has been extensive, but the countries to the south of us are slowly waking up to the dangers. Nine of them have already broken diplomatic relations with Cuba, the center of Communist activities in this hemisphere. Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Mexico have not gone as far as their sister countries in manifesting antagonism toward

"neutral" countries.

It is a case of "national interest" in each instance. Mr. Nehru, who was educated in Britain and knows the Anglo-Saxon mind as well as any statesman in Europe or Asia, is afraid of the club that Khrushchev holds over him through Peiping. Any moment the Red Chinese can start border trouble and threaten India. So the Indian Prime Minister proceeds cautiously and tries to appear "neutral." He, like Marshal Tito, goes along with the Communists in the U.N. on the theory that this is the least expensive way to satisfy the Kremlin and yet not run too big a risk of alienating the United States. But, unhappily for Mr. Nehru, the American people can read about all his doings. It's the growth of a critical opinion inside the United States that caused Mr. Nehru to come here to fix things up. It accounts for his many appearances on television, his speeches and interviews that got wide publicity in America.

It's tough going, to be sure, for the "neutrals" when they try to play both ends against the middle, and it's tough for the President and Secretary of State of the United States, who certainly cannot afford to break off with these "neutrals" just because for the time being they pursue mistaken policies. It is a game that calls for skill and patience. It is coincidentally helpful that steady pressure is applied through openly expressed criticism by the peoples of free countries like America.

The objective, which is to keep the "neutrals" from being forced to become Communist satellites — if they should have nowhere else to turn — is being kept constantly in mind in London and Washington. While outwardly it sometimes looks as if progress isn't being made, the truth is that the "cold war" is a long-range operation, and the scoreboard of victories and defeats at a given time isn't necessarily a measure of the eventual outcome.

interested in what's going on around you. Angier Biddle Duke, chief of Protocol Office of the State Department, no less, is the culprit in this kind of law.

About noon recently Biddle's office phone rang and President Kennedy, at the other end of the line, began the conversation by saying, "Well, I'm surprised that you're awake at this hour."

As Biddle gasped, Kennedy continued, "I feel I must check up on reports that my White House parties are so dull that you go to sleep at the table."

Biddle was being ribbed by the President because of a magazine article that erroneously reported such an incident had occurred.

Fact is, Biddle dozed off, not at a White House party, but at a luncheon at the National Press Club.

PSC Sophomore Moorefield Firemen Plan To Install Yule Lights

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Christmas street lights and decorations will be installed this year by members of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company with installation by Saturday, December 2. The lighting will be financed by the newly formed Moorefield Merchants Association.

At a joint meeting between members of the association and the fire company, a decision was made to mass the lights at the center of town as far as possible rather than random lights scattered through town. Firemen will install permanent brackets at a minimum of 21 feet high along Main Street as far as the light strings will go. Ornaments will be affixed to the light strings to improve the appearance during daylight hours.

A special power line will be installed and the lights will be operated from one meter with a clock mechanism turning the lights on at dusk until 10:30 each evening.

The lights will be installed as far north and south of the corner of Winchester and Main as the budget will allow. The lighting installations will be added to each year until all of Main Street is lighted.

L. L. McConnell, president of the firemen, said the mass display of light at the center of town would not preclude erection of strings by individual business firms but it is the hope of the joint committee that all firms would contribute the present strings for the planned, permanent installation. Firemen will maintain custody of the lights and be responsible for storage and maintenance.

The Moorefield squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will secure and erect the Community Christmas tree in the yard of the Presbyterian church which will be operated from the same meter and clock.

McConnell pointed out that the permanent installation for the lights would make the same fixtures available for the annual Poultry Festival or other celebrations. The Moorefield Community Council and the Moorefield Lions Club officials endorsed the new lighting plan with annual additions as a community enterprise.

Two foreign films selected by the committee as a bonus include: "The Root" (Italian); and "Miss Julie" (Swedish). These movies will have English subtitles.

Lonaconing Passes Snow Ordinance

No Parking Set On Certain Streets

LONAConING — The Mayor and City Council of Lonaconing this week passed as new ordinance which will ban parking on certain streets during periods of inclement weather.

During the period between December 1 and April 1, no parking will be allowed on several city streets between midnight and 8 a.m. when the weather is bad.

The areas designated in the no parking law include Main Street between the American Store and Skilling Bridge and between Elkhorn Store and Marshall's Confectionery, and on Douglas Avenue in the parking meter area.

In other action at the council meeting, a letter was read from the State Roads Commission regarding certain repairs which are needed on the Union Street bridge. The SRC will provide the town with the names of several contractors who are qualified to do the job.

The council, upon recommendation of James S. Getty, town attorney, voted not to give a donation to Homestead TV Translators, Inc. Mr. Getty said the town is not free to spend public money for private enterprises.

The town also voted to pay $1,000 to the Cumberland Contracting Company on an old bill for a blacktopping job which was done during the previous administration.

The council voted unanimously to purchase a new police cruiser from Lonaconing Motors. Delivery is expected in three or four weeks.

It was brought out at the meeting that several Lonaconing property owners were making repairs or building structures without first obtaining building permits from the town clerk.

Any new building or modifications to old ones require a permit and the council has requested the cooperation of property owners.

Western Maryland Railway returned a deed to the town for the property between Union Street and the Town Hall. A portion of this lot has been dedicated as a new street named Pleasant Street.

The division superintendent also pointed out that the corporation had been considering closing the property for some time due to a decrease in the need for the type of coal produced at the mine for use in the steel-making operations of its affiliate, Bethlehem Steel Company.

The division had been generally lost its jobs as a result of the fire. The business lost to the Western Maryland amounts to an average of 30 carloads of coal a day eastbound out of Elkins.

The division superintendent also pointed out that the corporation had been considering closing the property for some time due to a decrease in the need for the type of coal produced at the mine for use in the steel-making operations of its affiliate, Bethlehem Steel Company.

The mine had been generally known as being nearly worked out. At one time it employed 500 miners and in the past few years, the number had been about 300.

The fire that destroyed the tipple and head house was officially estimated at costing $500,000 in damage.

KEYSER — The Church World Service pickup truck from New Windsor, Md., will collect articles in Keyser on December 4 at the City Office Building on Davis Street.

It has been requested that parcels be wrapped securely and labeled for the center and that the addressee's name be written on each one. The Center is in the process of reorganizing and reporting receipt procedures to provide a more adequate record of every congregation or organization contributing.

However, whenever possible, the eight cents a pound on parcels is asked for to be used in processing and handling as materials leave the World Service Center. Those contributing for this cause are asked to send the amount direct to World Service Center, New Windsor, Md., and do not, at any time, include money in parcels.

Eddie Arcaro Needs Upset To Break Hex In Pimlico Futurity

Veteran Has Failed To Win In Ten Tries

To Ride Endymion, Choice Is Crimson Satan, 7 To Start

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jockey Eddie Arcaro will need an upset Saturday to break a hex on him in the Pimlico Futurity.

The race is one of the few major events that Arcaro has been unable to win and he's tried 10 times.

The first time, in 1936, Arcaro finished first on Privileged. But he was found guilty of fouling, suspended for six months and his colt placed last.

The next year, Arcaro fell off his master, Dah He. The ace jockey has never placed better than fourth in the Futurity since then.

Willie On Favorite

On the other hand, Jockey Willie Shoemaker has won the Futurity twice in five appearances and Saturday will be on the favored Crimson Satan.

Arcaro will be riding the probable second choice, Endymion. Also entered in the mile and sixteenth race are Obey, Will of Iron, Green Ticket, Greek Money and Smart.

If all seven start, there will be $16,920 to be divided among the first four with the winner netting $7,585.50.

Crimson Satan has won four races at the Futurity distance while most of other 2-year-olds haven't even run it. The last victory by Crimson Satan, owned by Peter Salmer Jr. of Detroit, was in the Garden Stakes, the richest race in the world, two weeks ago.

The last time Crimson Satan and Endymion met in the Champagne Stakes, George D. Widen's Endymion was eight lengths behind.

Obey Is Contender

Mrs. Herbert Herff's Obey was third behind Crimson Satan in the Garden Stakes and therefore considered a contender in the Pimlico Futurity.

There will be off-beat interest in Will of Iron because the colt is owned by a public corporation. He has about 500 interested stockholders.

All seven entries will carry the same weight, 122 pounds.

The Pipers, despite a 22-point production by the Rens' high-scoring center Connie Hawkins, dominated the game from the opening whistle and held the edge in rebounds, 77 to 61.

Piontek To Join Chicago Packers

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Packers announced Friday that Dave Piontek, former star with Xavier University, had come out of retirement and would join the club for Saturday's game at Detroit.

Piontek, 6 feet 6 inches tall, was obtained by the Packers from St. Louis in the player draft by which the new National Basketball Association team was stocked last summer.

He decided to retire rather than join the Packers, but owner Dave Trager said Piontek had changed his mind. Piontek has been in the league for five years, and was rated an expert rebounder and playmaker.

JONATHAN PAUGH is back in the saddle again at Moorefield High School and that should be good news to the many friends of the genial mentor in the tri-state area.

Paugh took a leave of absence after the 1959-60 basketball season and attended the Jonathan Paugh University of Virginia to obtain his masters degree. "Johnny" now takes over the basketball reins of the Yellowjackets, a post he held for 17 years during which time his teams won 284 games and lost 125. He replaces LaMar Sager, who coached the Hardy Countians last season when his team won 17 games and lost seven.

Paugh tutored Moorefield High football teams for 15 years before he stepped down in favor of George Bott, one of his former pupils and Shepherd College star, at the start of the 1958 season. His grid teams won 87, lost 41 and played eight ties. He coached at Mathias High in Hardy county before moving to Moorefield.

Moorefield's popular mentor is a native of Hambleton, Tucker county, the same community in which Bill Hahn, former Fort Hill coach and now Wheaton High grid mentor, was born.

Texas And Alabama Put Long Winning Streaks On Line Today

Longhorns Favored To Down TCU

'Bama Is Choice
Over Tech; Gophers
To Play Purdue

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

Paced by Texas and Alabama, the 8-0 perfect record powers of college football, the nation's top gridiron teams will risk their hopes of conference titles and rich bowl bids Saturday.

Texas, unbeaten in 13 straight games and rated the nation's No. 1 team by the UPI board of coaches, can clinch a tie for the Southwest Conference championship and thus put one foot in the Cotton Bowl by making good as a 22-point favorite over Texas Christian.

Win 15 Straight

Alabama, the No. 2 ranked team which is unbeaten in 15 straight, faces what looks like a much tougher battle as only a 6-point favorite over Georgia Tech.

This game is loaded with bowl possibilities. Alabama, pacemaker of the Southeastern Conference, has the inside track to the Sugar Bowl. Georgia Tech damaged its Orange Bowl hopes by its surprise loss to Tennessee last week, but could redeem itself fully with a win over the Crimson Tide.

Conference titles and bowl berths also beckon such powers as Minnesota, Ohio State, Louisiana State, UCLA, and Colorado as the 1961 season plays its next-to-final full Saturday.

Minnesota, tied with Ohio State for the Big Ten lead, risks its share as only a 7-point favorite over Purdue. Minnesota is ranked No. 4 nationally, but Purdue, ranked 7th, is red-hot with wins over Iowa, Illinois, and Michigan State in its last three games. Ohio State steps outside the league as a 15-point choice over Oregon in one of the day's leading intersectional games.

LSU Is Favorite

Louisiana State, which has declared itself not interested in the Sugar Bowl but definitely open to other offers, is an 18-point favorite over Mississippi State. The Bengals will take over the Southeastern Conference lead if they win and Georgia Tech upsets Alabama.

UCLA, leader of the western Big Five, is a 10-point favorite over Washington. Colorado, knocked from the perfect-record ranks last week but still leader of the Big Eight, hopes to get back on the road to the Orange Bowl as a 6-point favorite over Nebraska.

Regional television is on tap under the NCAA program of controlled home screening. In the three regional TV games, Army is a 2-point pick over Oklahoma at New York's Yankee Stadium, Duke is favored by 7 over North Carolina in a shot at the Atlantic Coast Conference crown, and Wisconsin is 15 over Illinois.

Other Games

EAST: Columbia is a solid favorite to beat Penn and clinch at least a tie for its first Ivy League championship; Rutgers, the only major college perfect record team in addition to Texas and Alabama, is a 7-point choice over Colgate; Princeton 4 over Yale; Pitt 7 over Southern California; Dartmouth 9 over Cornell; and Penn State 14 over Holy Cross.

Midwest: Michigan is 6 over Iowa; Michigan State, which has tumbled from the No. 1 spot nationally by two straight losses, is picked to rebound by 13 over Northwestern; Notre Dame and Syracuse are even money.

South: North Carolina State 4 over South Carolina; Auburn 7 over Georgia; Maryland 12 over Wake Forest; Mississippi, No. 6 nationally, 15 over Tennessee.

Southwest: Texas A&M 1 over Rice; Arkansas 13 over SMU.

Far West: Stanford 6 over Washington State; Kansas 14 over California.

Johnson Scores KO

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Don Johnson, Los Angeles lightweight, knocked out Qillie Quatuor of West Germany, in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-round bout Friday night.

Johnson, always a slow starter, was behind on points as the fight entered the third round but from that point on he dominated the scrap.

Johnson weighed 139 pounds, Quatuor 137½.

STANDOUT IN EAST — Leading the Rutgers University team to an unbeaten season this year are the stars pictured. Rutgers, winner of its first seven games, still has to meet Colgate and Columbia. The Scarlet Knights are coached by John Bateman, who is in his second season at the helm. He turned in an 8-1 record last year. (Central Press)

It will be the third game between the two schools, with each owning one victory in the new season. Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m. EST.

MacPhail Confident Temple Will Abandon Idea Of Retirement

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Lee MacPhail of the Baltimore Orioles said Friday he is confident Johnny Temple will abandon his idea of retiring from baseball, and will join the team for the 1962 season.

Soon after he was obtained in a trade with the Cleveland Indians Thursday, Temple said he may give up baseball and retire to his ranch in Tucson, Ariz.

MacPhail said he was not surprised at Temple's reaction because with Cleveland he could have remained home most of spring training. The Indians train at Tucson, while Baltimore trains in Miami.

MacPhail said he was "not overly concerned or worried" by Temple's statement.

Navy and Virginia, football foes Saturday's Army-Oklahoma football game originally was scheduled for Yankee Stadium a couple of years back the big town's shopkeepers were delighted at the prospect of a vast crowd roaring in for the weekend with plenty of spending money ... Furthermore, Columbia has a home game with Pennsylvania that afternoon and quite a few college football buffs are turning out to watch the Lions these days ... who'd have thought Columbia might give Army some box-office competition?

Fred Haney of the Los Angeles Angels still believes his best bet is building with kids ... only eight on his 36-player roster for 1962 are over 30 and the average is 25 ... oldest are Art Fowler (39), Eddie Yost (35) and Steve Bilk (33).

Classification Conference Is Slated Monday

Review Of Details With Ullery Asked

The proposed new job classification plan for city workers will be discussed Monday morning by the Mayor and Council.

The meeting will be held after the regular 10 a.m. Council meeting with Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk and secretary of the Civil Service Commission, in attendance.

At a discussion meeting held in City Hall last night, the Mayor and Council agreed such a meeting, to discuss specific items which have been the subject of study, should be held with Mr. Ullery.

The proposals under discussion was prepared by the Municipal Technical Advisory Service of the University of Maryland, based on job descriptions drawn up by the Department of Employment Security, and would replace the city's first classification and pay plan, adopted July 1, 1960.

During extended discussions, a number of changes in the plan have been fairly well agreed on and incorporated into a revised ordinance.

But there is still considerable dissatisfaction with a number of details.

Positions Vary

City officials appeared pretty well divided on the proposal. Positions varied from one to consider the plan a good start for adopting a satisfactory plan to "accept or reject" stand.

Another view was that it should be passed, as nobody would be hurt and a lot of workers would be bettered.

The proposed ordinance has been approved by the Civil Service Commission.

Officials decided to delay until November 27 action on an ordinance regulating the removal of snow from sidewalks.

Delay Action

Copies of the proposal were distributed during the meeting, and officials said they need time to analyze the plan before taking any action.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech briefed the commissioners on plans of the Municipal Commission to request the city to build additional hangars at the port.

He said the hangars could be built through the sale of revenue bonds which would not affect the credit of the city or the tax rate.

He also reported on the request of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company for a hanger to house another plane the company is purchasing.

Will Report

Mrs. Lucille Roeder, finance commissioner, promised to check and report on the financing plan used to build the company's existing hanger at the port.

Earlier, several members of the council discussed a proposal to build an alley on the flood control area between Baltimore and Bedford streets between the North Mechanic Street side.

It was pointed out that if the alleys were opened, business places would have access from the rear and would have no trouble from loading and unloading.

A decision will have to be made soon, since one of the easements in the area will expire next July. Cost has been estimated at $7,000.

MYF Dinner Tomorrow

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of Trinity Methodist Church will sponsor a Thanksgiving dinner in the church fellowship hall Sunday at 6 p.m.

Parents, members and friends of the local church will be honored at this special event. Miss Ann Koch is chairman of the dinner, which will be prepared by the members of the senior high fellowship.

Miss Carolyn Liller is in charge of special entertainment following the dinner and has announced that the Fort Hill High School Ensemble will sing under the direction of Harold B. Hanson.

The evening worship service at 7:30 will be in charge of the members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. Walter Turner, president of the sub-district MYF, will be guest speaker.

The service is being arranged around the theme of "The Family" and the high school ensemble will provide sacred music.

Enlists In Navy

Elmer C. Bierman, RD 4, Mexico Farms, has enlisted in the Navy, according to Chief C. B. Epps, local Navy recruiter. He will take basic training at San Diego, Calif., Naval Base, before assignment.

SCS Official Gives Report On Cooperators

Five Land Owners Getting Assistance

Five new cooperators are taking advantage of the assistance of the Allegany Soil District Supervisors and Soil Conservation Service, according to Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the SCS office here, who gave his monthly report yesterday during a meeting of the supervisors.

Mr. Gordon pointed out that Dr. Alvin P. Walters, Frostburg, who has 17 acres of land, is interested in proper land use, tree planting, and water disposal.

S. Russ Minter, Mt. Savage, who has 120 acres (the former Stanley Weimer farm) is interested in a basic plan, according to Mr. Gordon, who said Thomas G. Barton, Baltimore Pike, is interested in pasture improvement on his 103-acre farm.

John Lotz, Frostburg, who has 6 acres of land, is interested in a possible farm pond, pasture improvement and diversion terrace, and C. A. Liller, who now farms the former Dishong farm (200 acres) below Barton, is interested in drainage, long-term hay and pasture improvement.

Mr. Gordon went over a revised plan with J. Paul Andrick, Town Hill, who has 247 acres, and basic plans have been worked out with Samuel Cousins, Oldtown; L. E. Crabtree, Warrior Mountain; Thomas G. Barton, Martin Mountain, and Charles R. Emerick, Barreleville.

Additional drain tile was installed on the Horner Twigg farm at Twiggstown and on the farm of E. K. McLaughlin, Town Creek. Spring development for livestock water purposes was completed on the Edgar Mathews farm on Town Creek, he added.

A 900-foot diversion terrace was completed on the Harry Norris farm, Little Orleans, and an open ditch of 800 feet was completed on the George Barton farm, Pinto.

He also reviewed the science program's revitalization in 1958, its current status, purpose and activities, and its potential.

Dr. Kovach is a native of New Jersey and received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in chemistry from Wayne University. He entered Harvard University in 1946 as a teaching fellow in chemistry and was awarded his Ph.D. in organic chemistry in 1949.

He also has done post-graduate work at Colgate University and the University of Florida, and in 1954 was appointed science adviser for the U. S. Navy Scientific and Technical Unit in Germany.

The National Science Foundation appointed him to the chemistry program in 1958.

Dr. Kovach is a member of the American Chemical Society, and earlier this year Wayne University awarded him its Distinguished Alumni Award.

Approximately 25 persons attended the meeting last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The survey being conducted for the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will cover both employers and employees.

Questions will be asked concerning kind of work done, days worked, wages and related items.

The questions on private household work are in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment which are asked each month in the Current Population Survey.

Information will be collected locally beginning Monday by Mrs. Olive E. Claar, 885 Ridgedale Avenue.

Promoted By Navy

Kenneth E. Twigg, fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Twigg, 128 Paca Street, was promoted to Boiler Tender Third Class in ceremonies aboard the USS Turner, radar picket destroyer Thursday at Charleston, S.C.

Police officials, meanwhile, said patrolmen would be available to keep a close watch on all known segregated restaurants in Baltimore.

Overton said representatives in his department would maintain "strict neutrality" and would make no arrests unless restaurant owners consent to testify in court.

John Ashley Scoffs At Use Of "Doubles"

The physical demands of the action series, "Straightaway," pose no problem for John Ashley, the young co-star of the show.

A former regional wrestling champion in Oklahoma, Ashley scoffs at the use of doubles to do any of his TV work. Veteran Hollywood stunt men who have watched him in action, say he is one of the most agile actors in the business.

Ashley, who loves sports, spends most of his free time with tennis, softball, horseback riding and water skiing. In high school, he was a star on the varsity wrestling team.

At Oklahoma A&M, Ashley continued his interest in wrestling and again made the varsity team. Two of his teammates were Terry McCann and Doug Blubaugh, both gold medal winners in the 1960 Olympic Games.

Peggie Castle of "Lawman" says the trouble with letting a guy know that you're hungry for romance is that he then tries to fill you with applesauce!
